

Diagnostics of teams

We'll help you plan, define and execute diagnostics and assessments to optimize the performance of a team or group of people.

You'll get a complete X-ray of the features that determine the group's performance that will allow you to identify those areas to be improved. We'll provide you with the technology to capture the diagnostic information (through electronic surveys, paper questionnaires or importing data from MS Office Excel). With the Business Intelligence setting you'll have a control panel available to make use of the individual and group results, as well as obtain all types of Word and PDF reports.

Intelligent Management of the Human Factor

Diagnostics of teams

With OpenMet you'll be able to:

- Provide your directors with a vital tool to evaluate your management team, your sales force or any other collective or group of people in which you want to improve performance
- Design specific plans to optimize the sales force, adapted to the needs of each product or region, or according to business priorities
- Contact a partner who will help you design the surveys, automated data collection (it can be in many languages and through electronic surveys, on paper or by importing data from MS Office Excel), calculate the results and, if you want, easily generate automatic Word and PDF reports

Everything Made to Order:

- OpenMet Group will adapt the features to be evaluated to the exact needs of your company
- To carry out data capture, you can use your servers or store the data on ours
- You can analyze the results or take advantage of our expertise to do so
- You may compare the results with any other objective result (internal benchmarking)
- Capture data by PDA (pocket computer or electronic agenda with Internet access) if you want

